

A photograph of a narrow, gravelly road winding through a misty, mountainous landscape. The road is on the left, bordered by a simple wooden post-and-rail fence. To the right, a steep, green hillside rises, covered in dense vegetation. A large, white, sans-serif sign is painted on the side of the hill, following the curve of the road. The sign reads "SOME SOULS SEE STRANGE SILHOUETTES". The background is shrouded in thick fog or mist, obscuring the distant peaks and creating a somber, atmospheric mood.
